

FORB 201 Open Lecture

Forensic Pathology in the United States: Death, Drugs, and Disasters

Dr James Gill

Dr James Gill, a forensic pathologist, will give an overview of the role of the forensic pathologist as a Medical Examiner in the United States with focus on the recent opioid crisis and a review of the New York City Medical Examiner's response to the World Trade Center disaster on September 11, 2001.

Thursday 18 January • 5.30pm • Castle 1 Lecture Theatre • All welcome

Australian and New Zealand
FORENSIC SCIENCE SOCIETY

Hosted by the Sir John Walsh Research Institute, Faculty of Dentistry, University of Otago in conjunction with the Australian and New Zealand Forensic Science Society.