Dunedin has joined the many cities in the world in which a University of the Third Age has been founded

Beginning in France in the mid seventies the U3A movement has now spread to most countries and has many hundreds of thousands of members.

U3A is a response to the idea that human life is divided into three periods: firstly, childhood and schooling; secondly, child rearing and work; and thirdly retirement.

The third age is seen to provide the greatest opportunities for learning and understanding because it is during this period of retirement that the idea of a university as a community of those who seek greater understanding through learning can be put into practice.

The unique characteristics of U3A

- Learning topics are selected by the members
- Indepth courses are planned by members
- Opportunities for reading, research and discussion are provided
- Presenters/facilitators are usually members of the groups
- The company of others who enjoy learning is ensured
- The atmosphere for learning is informal and friendly
- There are no examinations
- There are no compulsory activities
- Courses take place during daylight hours
- Costs are minimal and within the reach of everybody

The Programme

CHANGING LANDSCAPES. Coming to Terms with the environment in southern New Zealand

A series of three lectures and a whole-day bus trip. The bus hire plus morning tea and lunch is included in the course fee. Warm clothing and stout footwear essential, some walking on rough ground involved.

The first two lectures will be given by Professor Peter Holland, Geography Department, Otago University.

The third lecture will be given by Bill Brockie (former Associate Professor, Geography Department, Otago University)
Bill will also lead the bus trip to the Catlins.

CHANGING LANDSCAPES PROGRAMME 2003 (Thursdays 10.00-12.00) Venue:-Frank Nichol Room, Knox.

6th March Environmental learning in colonial

New Zealand. The first generation of British colonists found New Zealand a very different place from the land where they had been born. This lecture is about environmental learning amongst rural people in the eastern half of the South Island between 1840 and 1870

13th March New Plants for a new land: This lecture is about the plants brought into New Zealand during the early days of colonial settlement.

20th March The Catlins. Sequent Occupance -

Changing assessments of its physical and Cultural Constraints. Maori and later European settlers exploited the resources of the Catlins in different ways. Isolation and absence of radical human intervention are attractions—paradoxically, demands for improved road access now threaten the survival of these attractions.

27th March Bus Trip to Catlins –leave from

KNOX 9.15 am – return about 5.00 pm: -remember walking shoes.
