The Treasures of Otago

The University of the Third Age Planning Committee has met twice in recent weeks, and its members have been busy arranging venues and topics for our proposed "Treasures of Otago" series.

The preliminaries have now been completed, and we are pleased to be able to announce the following draft programme. (Please be aware that some details remain to be confirmed, and there is the possibility of some adjustments in dates or venues.)

The Planning Committee has decided to retain the fee for this course at the same level as before, that is $40. This includes the bus fare to Oamaru, but not the cost of admissions or meals on the North Otago day.

Enrolment

To facilitate planning, we are asking you to indicate your intention to take part in this series by completing and returning the Enrolment Form. If for any reason you are unable to take part, you may nominate a friend to take your place. You may also send a "substitute" for any individual sessions you are unable to attend.

(Any places remaining after the closing date, Friday 3 June, will be offered to other people on our U3A register.)
