

Dunedin has joined the many cities in the world in which a University of the Third Age has been founded

Beginning in France in the mid seventies the U3A movement has now spread to most countries and has many hundreds of thousands of members.

U3A is a response to the idea that human life is divided into three periods: firstly, childhood and schooling; secondly, child rearing and work; and thirdly retirement.

The third age is seen to provide the greatest opportunities for learning and understanding because it is during this period of retirement that the idea of a university as a community of those who seek greater understanding through learning can be put into practice.

The unique characteristics of U3A

- Learning topics are selected by the members
- Indepth courses are planned by members
- Opportunities for reading, research and discussion are provided
- Presenters/facilitators are usually members of the groups
- The company of others who enjoy learning is ensured
- The atmosphere for learning is informal and friendly
- There are no examinations
- There are no compulsory activities
- Courses take place during daylight hours
- Costs are minimal and within the reach of everybody

The Programme

The aim would be to discuss the main examples to illustrate the development of these two poets in the kind of pleasure they afford, their humour, their emotional grasp and intellectual clarity. It is assumed that members of the class would have access to either the collected or selected work of Yeats (Penguin) and Eliot (Faber)

Hyndman's advise: Yeats (Penguin) $15.95 and Eliot (Faber) $24.95 will be available in three weeks from their supplier.
