

THE UNIVERSITY OF THE THIRD AGE

Beginning in France in the mid seventies the U3A movement has now spread to most countries and has many hundreds of thousands of members.

U3A is a response to the idea that human life is divided into three periods: firstly, childhood and schooling; secondly, child rearing and work; and thirdly, retirement.

The third age is seen to provide the greatest opportunities for learning and understanding because it is during this period of retirement that the idea of a university as a community of those who seek greater understanding through learning can be put into practice.

The unique characteristics of U3A

- Learning topics are selected by the members
- In depth courses are planned by members
- Opportunities for reading, research and discussion are provided
- Presenters/facilitators are usually members of the groups
- The company of others who enjoy learning is ensured
- The atmosphere for learning is informal and friendly
- There are no examinations
- There are no compulsory activities
- Courses take place during daylight hours
- Costs are minimal and within reach of everybody

The U3A Dunedin Charitable Trust has recently entered into a partnership with the University of Otago which will enhance their shared community of interest by continuing to provide a programme of non-credit educational courses while further utilising the expertise and resources of the University.

ARCHITECTURE: BUILDING DUNEDIN

The Programme

From the year of its founding in 1848, Dunedin has grown into a city that is admired for its picturesque and even dramatic setting and the quality of its built inheritance. How our buildings of the nineteenth and twentieth centuries contribute to that quality is the primary subject of this course.

Speakers will discuss the original plan devised for the site of Dunedin, the patterns of its settlement and the architectural influences and achievements that have shaped the city. Selected buildings and architects will be considered as case studies designed to open discussion of architecture and architectural history and how buildings can form valuable precincts that contribute to the pleasure of living in Dunedin. Speakers will also consider the appraisal, conservation and reuse of our surviving buildings and how they and new structures may have to be adapted and designed for a sustainable future.

The Board of U3A Dunedin would like to thank Gary Blackman for devising this programme and arranging the speakers.
