DUNEDIN'S WRITTEN TREASURES

It is quite exciting to realise just how well Dunedin is endowed with historical records, manuscripts and rare books, providing a treasure trove alike for the serious academic researcher and for the curious. 'Dunedin's Written Treasures' is designed to give an overview of the range and richness of material held here and available to members of the public (perhaps enticing some to pursue further an interest in the past from a general or personal and family perspective, or both).
