Otago is rightly renowned for its heritage architecture, but it also has an impressive array of modern architecturally designed buildings of all kinds — residential, commercial, institutional and restored heritage. There are fifty architectural practices in the southern region, primarily Dunedin, Queenstown and Wanaka. Six practices each with established bodies of work will present their design philosophies and practice, and using illustrations from their own projects will discuss their views on what constitutes good architecture.

All applications must be received by Thursday 5 May 2022. You will receive a response to your application by Monday 16 May 2022.

Please contact the Programme Secretary courses@u3adunedin.org.nz, phone 467 2594 with any queries.

Vision and Practice: Otago Architects at Work

- 2 June                    Mason and Wales: our oldest practice established 1863
-Francis Whitaker, Partner
Originally established by Dunedin's first mayor, William Mason, this multi-generational practice has a long and proud record of Otago architecture, winning numerous awards. Recent projects include the University of Otago Innovation Centre, Millbrook houses and St Moritz Hotel. Its drawings archive is a national treasure of architectural history.
- 9 June                    McAuliffe Stevens Architects: technical architecture
-Craig McAuliffe, Principal
Craig McAuliffe's and Preston Steven's work is mainly concentrated in Dunedin and Central Otago, with other builds in Canterbury and Southland. A particular interest is technical architecture, such as medical facilities. Latest project is modernising the Forsyth Barr building in the Octagon.
- 16 June                    Team Green Architects: passive housing
-Siân Taylor, Founder and Director
Established in 2013 and based In Queenstown, Team Green practice architects, Siân Taylor and Mark Read, are dedicated to energy efficient, passive builds, with many Southern Lakes region residential projects to their credit. They live in their own passively designed house near Arrowtown.
- 23 June                    Gary Todd Architecture: climate-change adaptive architecture
-Gary Todd, Lead Architect, Director
With over 30 years experience and 1000 projects completed, Gary's team with offices in Dunedin and Wanaka, specialises mainly in new or altered residential or commercial projects within the South Island, with a particular interest in sustainable and regenerative design. A recent project is the Ebb Hotel in Filleul Street.
- 30 June                    Bell + Co Architecture Ltd: from Auckland to Otago
-Andrea Bell and Andrew Kissell, Directors
Originally started in Auckland in 2013 by Andrea Bell but now based in Otago with her partner Andrew Kissell, the practice has been involved with many varied projects in the North Island and more recently in Otago. A major project of Andrew's was the redevelopment of the University of Otago Commerce Building.
- 7 July                    Parker Warburton Team Architects: a full range
-Simon Parker, Director
A design-led architectural practice with offices in Dunedin and Wanaka. Over the last 40 years they have designed a wide range of residential, institutional and commercial buildings in Otago and nationwide. Well known Otago projects include the Treble Cone base facility and the Hunter Centre at the University of Otago.
